

PANGAEMEDIA

Front End Web Developer

Pangea Media is a fast-paced Internet startup with a casual work environment based in Watertown, MA. We build fun and interesting web products in the entertainment and online quiz related space. Our revenues come from online advertising and market research. Pangea Media is dedicated to innovating new ideas and working with new technologies. We have a core team in place and are looking to add new members.

We are seeking a full time front end web developer to handle our many design and UI projects. This position would be working with our graphics/design person as well as the development team to rollout new features, enhancements and products. Work will include taking designs from a designer / UI developer, and designing HTML, CSS, and JavaScript to implement them. You must be a critical thinker and problem solver who likes responsibility to succeed in this position.

Ideal candidates are college graduates with excellent communication skills. Applicants should be able to work well both alone as well as with a team to complete various projects. Only creative-minded, high energy, inquisitive, analytical, interesting, fun, smart, clever, and motivated people need apply!

Expertise in working with the following is required:

- * JavaScript
- * HTML
- * CSS
- * AJAX / JSON
- * XML

Experience in the following are a plus, but not required:

- * Perl
- * Template Toolkit
- * Catalyst / MVC frameworks
- * Subversion
- * jQuery / JavaScript frameworks
- * trac
- * I18N localization
- * Graphic design

Health, benefits, paid time off, and other perks are part of the compensation package. If you want to join a fast moving but relaxed and fun company, please send us a resume and cover letter by email to andrew@pangeamedia.com. Don't forget to include the job title you are applying for. (NO calls please).